England's Hopeless Competition With the United States.

Thomas C. Scott and Arthur H. Savory, authorities upon the subject in England, have recently made careful inquiries into the condition of the wheat raising industry, and are compelled to admit that at present figures England must abandon this branch of agriculture and give place to America. It is shown that in order to reimburse the English farmer for his outlay in seed, labor, manure, cartage, &c., the wheat must be sold at £2 8s per quarter (eight bushels) at least. The average price in the past four months has been wo thousand miles from her ports of export, conveys it by rail to the points of shipment, transports it over three thousand miles of ocean to Great Britain, and sells it a shilling a bushel less than it costs the English to grow it. Our streets are in worse condition than any portion of the public roads in the county. Winter and summer our town is without light at night. We have no police. Rowdies and roughs—white, black and particolored—make night hideous with their outeries. Our bonds are not paid. We have all the machinery of a city government, but none of the benefits of good government.

FAIRMONT.

FAIRMONT, W. VA., Feb. 28, 1879.

The religious revivals which have been The religious revivals which have been in progress at the Methodist Episcopal and and Methodist Protestant churches for the past three or four weeks have closed, though not without accomplishing a great deal of good, each of the churches named having received quite an increase of its membership. But notwithstanding the gracious influences of these revivals upon the minds of our people, and the fact that our community is already noted for its piety and strict morality, I notice that our temperance people are inclined to press Old Nick still further from the corporate limits of our town; that they are preparations of the House and purge himself of his contempt. Hai hal chuckled the temperance people are inclined to press Old Nick still further from the corporate limits of our town; that they are preparing to make another vigorous assault upon inspiring "John Barleycorn," with the intention of destroying whatever influence he might be able to exert in our approaching municipal election. There is a manifest determination that for the future, as now, our Town Council shall oppose the granting of license to sell intoxicating drinks. It is already evident that for the next license year we will be compelled to "wet our whistles" at the various drug stores and "holes in the wall," and you may depend upon it being a rough way to make one feel "big with tumultuous joy." Capt. John Baggs, of your city, will assist our temperance people in a series of meetings, commencing on Monday evening next, March 3d, and they will doubtless do some good. If they do no other good, these meetings have a tendency to warn the young against falling into the perinclous practice of using strong drink. If they do this, they accomiplish great good.
"An ounce of prevention is worth a cart load of cures." It is easier to restrain the young than to reform the adult.

But to turn from the subject, let me speak for a pleasant social average.

The subject is the understone of the base and the pictore from the miss virtuous couch, to the big contempt. Ha! ha! chuckled the Senate Bill No. 9, the appropriation bill for the State Normal Schools, coming up on a second reading, pending consideration of the bill, a call of the House being made and there not being a quorum present, the Sengeant was directed to arrect the absentees. Pending further proceedings, a number of members having taken their seats and a quorum being present, the House proceeded with the regular business.

"That mercy I to others show That mercy show to me,"

The number of spectators at the House of Delegates far exceeded in number the members present on Saturday afternoon, and it being apparent that there was not a quorum present, the gentleman from Pendleton demanded a call of the House. And thus endeth the chapter.

The True Way to Invigorate. The True Way to Invigorate. The true way to invigorate a feeble system is to infuse activity into the operations of the stomach, that wondrous alembic in which the food is transmuted into the constituents of alood, the chief element of our vitality. Hoseiter's Stomach litters, because it accomplishes his end, is greatly to be preferred to many so-called tonics, ugful indeed as appearance, but inoperative as aids to digestion and issimilation. This sterling cordial, while it nvigorates the stomach, healthfully stimulates the liver, lowels and kidneys, ensuring the escape through the regular channels of effect and useless matter thrown off by the system, which is thus purified as well as inthe escape through the regular channels of ef-cie and useless matter thrown off by the ystem, which is thus purified as well as in-igorated by it. Its tonic influence is soon under manifest by an increase of vital energy and a more active and regular discharge of ev-ry physical function, and it has the further flect of rendering the system unassailable by malarial epidemics.
